We assume that there is no material dispute between the parties here in relation to the inspection of any record, the examination of which by the public is provided for by the language of the statute, such as those relating to chattel mortgages or newspapers, but that the real issues are regarding the right of relator to examine and copy without charge all records relating to deeds, mortgages, liens and titles to realty, concerning the inspection and copying of the most of which our statutes are st-

County, to allow the petitioner and relator and its agents and employees, free of charge, during regular business hours, to inspect and make memoranda and copies of all files and records in the office of the county recorder of that county, in so far as they relate to any current or depending transactions in which relator is authorized or employed to make searches, furnish abstracts or guarantee titles, by persons owning, having any encumbrance or lien upon, or interest in, or seeking to acquire by purchase, bond, contract, attachment, execution, mortgage, lien or encumbrance any interest in property; the examination and taking of memoranda or copies to be made at such times and under such circumstances as will not prevent the respondent or his assistants from discharging their duties or interfere with the right of other persons to have access to the records.

The privilege sought by relator of inspecting or copying all the records for the purpose of compiling an independent set of abstract books, covering all the property to which the records relate, is denied.
